BAGGAGE CAR BLOWN UP.

A Mysterious Explosion Near Altoona, Pa.

Haltbreath Escape of Two Men From Death—The Explosive Concealed in a Trunk Belonging to a Hungarian Miner—The Owner Arrested.

Pittsburgh, Jan. 19.—The baggage car attached to the New York limited express, which arrived in this city at 10:30 o'clock last night, was almost blown to pieces by dynamite, or some other terrible explosive, a few miles east of Altoona, Pa. Baggage-master Harry Mingo, who was in the car at the time, was pretty badly hurt. The trunk was put on the train at Duquesne, near Harrisburg, and was checked through to Pittsburgh. Mingo was arranging the trunks in the car. He picked up a small ordinary trunk and threw it on top of some other baggage. An explosion followed, which lifted the top of the car as though it was made of paper, and scattered fragments in all directions. The shock was terrible, and started the engineer and trainmen. It also attracted the attention of the passengers, and when it was found that the baggage car had been almost blown to pieces the greatest excitement prevailed. The train was stopped and the baggage transferred to another car. Mingo was quite seriously injured, but will recover. A brakeman who was in the car at the time escaped by being thrown behind a stack of trunks. The damaged car was sidetracked and the train proceeded on its way. The Pennsylvania railroad officials have determined to sift the matter to the bottom. The owner of the trunk was arrested when he presented his check for the trunk at the baggage-room this morning. He said that he was a Hungarian coal miner, and that his name was John Kagan. He came from Hazleton in search of work, and strenuously denied that there was any explosive in the trunk. It contained, he claims, nothing but clothing and some matches. Pending a thorough investigation he will be detained.

SPIES-VAN ZANDT.

The Sheriff of Chicago Says They Shall Not Marry.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Sheriff Matson positively refuses to allow the marriage of Spies, the condemned anarchist, and Nina Van Zandt to take place. He says: "I am surprised that her parents have even permitted the girl to visit the jail, and much more that they would consent to let her wed a man in prison, and that they will not attempt to save their own child from never-ending shame and disgrace. I shall see that she is at least given a chance to look before she leaps. I have consulted with a good many persons during the last few days, and I find that public opinion is almost unanimously against the marriage. It is no strong, in fact, that, after talking the matter over with State Attorney Grinnell, I am firmly resolved that the marriage shall be indefinitely postponed. I hope that Miss Van Zandt and her friends will be reconciled to wait and believe that my views are right, but whether they do or not I am confident that the people of Chicago will applaud my course. It is not necessary to ask how I shall prevent it. Spies is my prisoner, and as such is entitled only to such privileges or liberties as I may think proper to give him. The only person whom I am obliged to allow access to him is his lawyer." Miss Van Zandt appeared quite indifferent when told of the sheriff's decision, but refused to be interviewed on the subject. Miss Van Zandt went to the jail about 10 o'clock this morning and sought an interview with Spies. The jail official, however, in obedience to the sheriff's orders, refused to allow her to enter.

A MOTHER'S TERRIBLE DEED.

She Kills Five Children and Then Hangs Herself.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 20.—James Cahalak is a well-to-do carpenter living on Independence street, near the city limits. He has had employment all winter, and his eldest son worked with him. This morning he and his son went to work shortly before 7 o'clock. The mother, Antoinette, had been out of temper at the breakfast table, and had refused to talk to her husband. Directly after breakfast she sent Henry, her fifteen-year-old boy, to a grocery near by, and still another son to a milk depot. When they returned they could not get into the house. Going into the back yard they saw James, thirteen years old, in the water-closet, bleeding from sixteen wounds in the left side. They hastened away and called their oldest brother, who had gone off with the father, and returning, the three boys forced an entrance to the house. They discovered Tony, an eight-year-old girl, bleeding from a dozen cuts in her left side. On the floor near by were Mamie, five years old, Antoinette, three years old, and Willie, three months old, all dead from dreadful stab wounds near the heart. A bloody pair of shears told the story. A hunt was made for the mother. She was found in the cellar hanging from a rafter dead. She had killed her three children, mortally injured two others and had then committed suicide. The two children who were still alive were removed to a neighbor's house, but they will die. No cause for the terrible deed is given. The husband does not think that his wife was insane.

KILLED WITH CHLOROFORM.

The Noted Lion Kennedy Put Out of His Misery.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 20.—The noble African lion Kennedy, aged twenty years and valued at $5,000, who has delighted the children all over the country, as he rode perched on one of the large chairs in the street pageants of the great Barnum London Circus, was killed yesterday in this city in the presence of fifty spectators. Mr. Barnum and nearly all the physicians of the city were present. The huge beast has been suffering for the past year with spinal meningitis, and the case was pronounced incurable. It has been a question how to best kill the animal without causing an uproar among the hundreds of caged beasts. Finally it was decided to use chloroform, and Dr. Robert was appointed executioner. George Johnson, Kennedy's keeper, arranged the preliminaries by securely binding the lion's feet to opposite sides of the cage. A large basket was lined with rubber cloth, and into this was placed about three-quarters of a pound of chloroform. The cloth was then tied over Kennedy's neck, and inhalation began. For about two minutes the lion struggled frantically to release his head, and then he gradually succumbed to the anesthetic. In six minutes he was pronounced dead.

SELLING PAUPERS' BODIES.

Trouble in the County Infirmary At Akron, O.

AKRON, O., Jan. 19.—The County Commissioners decided this afternoon to investigate the County Infirmary management, and requested that Dr. A. G. Byers, Secretary of the State Board of Charities, conduct the investigation, and that he name three other outside parties to assist him. The latest charge made public is that bodies of paupers have been systematically stuffed in by persons in official position, and that they have been sent to Cleveland medical colleges in boxes labeled "glass."

Must Have Spontaneously Exploded.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 20.—John Kugmann, the Hungarian miner, whose trunk exploded in a Pennsylvania railroad baggage-car on Tuesday night, and who was detained by the police pending an investigation into the cause of the explosion, was liberated this afternoon, the authorities being convinced that he was not a Socialist, and had no intention of doing any damage. Kugmann made affidavit that there was no dynamite or any thing else of an explosive nature in his trunk.

AN ICY HARBOR.

Over One Hundred Men Reported Lost by the Sudden Breaking Up of Ice.

Thrilling Escapes and Heroic Rescues Related by Survivors Afloat on a Cake of Ice in Niagara River.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 21.—Breaking up of the ice in this end of Lake Erie, yesterday afternoon, brought consternation to many homes in this city. More than the usual number of men were out on the ice, and it was reported early in the evening that over one hundred had perished. So many different routes were taken by the men to reach the shore in safety that many did not get home till to-day. Owing to the varied character of men engaged in fishing the full number of missing men can not be learned. A sensational scene was the trip of William Williams and John Clark down Niagara river on a small cake of ice. The men floated down the river as far as the International bridge before Patrick O'Brien and James Hoolihan were able to overtake and rescue them. The ice cake was not of the most substantial kind, and their escape from the perilous situation is regarded as remarkable. George Bowman, barber, and an old fisherman, was one of the last men in. He was as far out as anyone, and knew by the motion of his lines in the afternoon that the ice was moving. He soon started and finally succeeded in landing near Boy View, five miles south of here about 10 o'clock at night. Non-Rocky Point a number of narrow escapes were witnessed. A fisherman said that on looking behind him, while hurrying to the shore, he saw a man swimming across a chasm, fully thirty feet wide. What the swimmer's fate was he could not say, as he had all he could do to look out for himself. Another said that while a man was standing on a cake of ice with his dog and sled the cake suddenly tipped and the man, dog and sled, slipped into the water and disappeared. He was not seen to come to the surface. Edward Hyland, No. 1 of the life-saving crew, had a thrilling experience. He was a long distance up the lake fishing, with his dog and sleigh, and finding the ice commencing to move, started for shore, but his dog was frightened, and refused to stir a step with the load of fish. Hyland knew he was losing precious moments, but didn't want to lose his dog and fish, and tried every effort to get the animal to move. At this moment the ice beside him cracked and parted, the seam running a long distance either way from where he stood. Still he hesitated. The crack between him and probable safety grew broader. Finally he threw the sled across, and abandoning the dog to its fate, sprang across the widening chasm, and made his way safely to shore, dragging the sled of fish after him.

A Female Coincider.

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—A Times special from Fort Worth, Texas, says: John T. Callahan and Mrs. Willey were arrested here last night on a charge of counterfeiting. It is said that several thousands of the false coins are now in circulation.

CHARGED WITH POISONING.

Strong Circumstantial Evidence Developed Against the Chicago Man, Lawrence Krug.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—It is now certain that Lucy Heideimeyer was poisoned. Prof. Haines, of the Rush Medical College, has completed a chemical analysis of her stomach. He found traces of arsenic in every vital part. It was administered in such liberal quantities that the only wonder is that the girl lived as long as she did. Captain Schack has also ascertained that Lawrence Krug, the girl's stepfather, who is being held to await the result of the investigation, lived for a long while with a celebrated chemist in Germany, and there gained an extensive knowledge of the deadly qualities of various poisons. Yesterday Professor Haines began an analysis of the remains of Krug's third wife, which were exhumed for that purpose last Thursday. The officers think they have a strong case of circumstantial evidence against Krug. The inquest on the step-daughter will be resumed this week, and inquiry redoubled as to the four other deaths charged against Krug. He has authorized the sale of two houses belonging to him in order to raise money to defend himself in the criminal court.

A MATRIMONIAL LESSON.

How a New Jersey Wife Kept Her Husband at Home.

BOSTON, N. J., Jan. 23.—Mrs. John Harvey, of Gloucester County, was deserted by her husband a couple of years ago, and she has since been trying to get the Court of Chancery to compel him to allow her alimony. Vice-Chancellor Bird, after hearing the reasons for her husband's desertion, filed an opinion denying her application. Her husband says that for a long time he suffered with sore and blisters over his body, and only after being afflicted with them for 14 months did he discover the cause. His wife, he said, had told a neighbor that she inflicted the sores by applying creton oil to his clothing, and that her purpose in so doing was to keep him at home nights. She succeeded so well in her purpose that she had to communicate her secret to another woman. The latter was so shocked that she told Harvey what his wife had done, and he thereupon deserted her.

Married a Skeleton.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23.—The skeleton of the Ninth and Arch streets Dime Museum, W. J. Coffey, was married to-night to Miss Eva Cartwright, of Norristown, at the residence of Rev. Dr. Chapman. The make-up of the skeleton was faultless. His clothes sat well upon him, and would easily fit a medium-sized man weighing 140 pounds. His legs, arms and trunk had evidently been well padded, for nothing about the set of his garments would indicate that he did not carry about an average amount of flesh. His mustache and goatee were carefully waxed and combed, and his eye-glasses was in position. The lady whose choice fell upon the skeleton in a decided blonde of about twenty-eight, and of fair appearance, weighing about one hundred and thirty pounds, and is about the same age as his bride.

Toledo, O., Threatened With a Flood.

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 23.—The ice in the Maumee River opposite Toledo lot go about 3 o'clock this afternoon and carried away about 250 feet of the Union railroad bridge. The ice abreast of Toledo was very soft, but that in the upper river was from twelve to eighteen inches thick, and has withstood the thaw well. It has piled up against the Pennsylvania railroad bridge, and there is danger that at least 400 feet of that structure will be wrecked. Below the city the river is shallow, and much of the ice that passed down is imbedded in the mud, forming a gorge, and at 9 o'clock the water in the river had raised three feet above the average stage. A dispatch from Turkey Foot Rock, fifteen miles above, says that the ice piled up in the river 25 feet high and the water overflowing the bank, doing much damage.

We are sure that the sufferer with Piles who gives Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment a trial will experience a complete cure, and go on his way rejoicing that there is a remedy for Piles, composed of simple ingredients which fulfill the purpose of this excellent preparation more completely than all the so-called "Pile Remedies" in existence.

Our town officers have been getting in some good work during the past week. A house at which dances have been regularly carried on of late by a low class of individuals was raided Saturday night, and about twenty-five participants were arraigned in Court Monday morning and fined four dollars each. The proprietor of the house was fined $20.

Disease is no respecter of persons, and there is something about an effectual remedy for it that appeals to common humanity characterized by the highest intellect, or simple intelligence, and which possesses an interest alike for rich and poor. Such is Cousens' Honey of Tar, a well tried remedy for coughs, colds and diseases of the throat and lungs.

If you are so far behind the times as not to have used J. Monroe Taylor's Gold Medal Soda or Saleratus put it off no longer, but go immediately and purchase a paper. Everybody who has ever used it proclaims its good qualities. It takes less in quantity, is saving in flour and shortening, and will make weak stomachs strong. Do not fail to try it. Most of the Grocers and many of the Druggists sell it. Depot, 113 Water Street, New York.

In correction of an article in last week's issue about Mr. Broas' getting shot, we give herewith a statement made to us by that gentleman. He says he did not start the report that he was "shot in the heel" at Pikeville, or any other place. He was not shot and never said so, the story was started as a joke because he was limping and did not see fit to advertise the cause. He says he has not received anything but the kindest of treatment in Pike county and elsewhere on Sandy.

"Ring out the old; ring the new!" has no reference to medicine. The numerous novelties in that line which have only an ephemeral existence are scarcely worthy to be mentioned in the category as that old reliable remedy known as Cousens' Honey of Tar, which our grandfathers used when the boys and girls had coughs, colds and diseases of the throat and lungs.

In former notice of the presents to our daughters, Thurza and Lizzie, on the occasion of their marriage, by a much regretted oversight these were omitted: From Mr. Richard A. Stone, a most beautiful bride's cake, nicely decorated, to both of the Brides; and a very fine all linen tablecloth to Lizzie. From John W. Stewart, at Ann Arbor, Mich., a fine ebony clock, to Thurza. From Miss Emily A. Johnson, of Ironton, Ohio, a fine, artistic, hand-knit petticoat to Lizzie. From Mr. Greenville Lackey, two beautiful glass pitchers, one to Thurza and one to Lizzie. As expressions of friendship and good will, all were and are highly prized; but none more so than these.

Proprietary Medicines.
A visit to Dr. Green's Laboratory, at Woodbury, N. J., has considerably changed our views, and especially our prejudices in regard to what are generally known as "Standard Patent Medicines." Of course we are getting to that age of life when we are forced to conclude Life itself is a humbug, and naturally distrust anything that has not withstood long and tried experiences. Being a physician I had the curiosity to know how such a sale of two medical preparations could be sustained for so many years. The perfect system upon which the business is conducted, and the pharmaceutical arrangements for the manufacture of the two recipes with which we were acquainted, are sufficiently convincing to us that the Angust Flower, for Dyspepsia, and Boeche's German Syrup, for throat and lung troubles, were for the complaints they are recommended, most excellent remedies, and only regret that in much of our practice, medical ethics prevents us from prescribing them without making the formula public. When we were shown the great quantity of voluntary letters having been forwarded to Dr. Green, from all parts of the country, and from all classes of people, lawyers, ministers and doctors giving a description of their ailments, testimonials of their cures, etc., I feel like endorsing Dr. Green's suggestion that the Government accept such valuable formulas, and license them for general use by giving protection to the inventor same as patents generally. —Copied from N. Y. Druggists Circular of Oct., 1886.

The Public School.

Knowing that your space is limited I shall not ask you to publish the grade of the pupils in my room. But I deem it just to my pupils to say that since the publication of my last report great improvement has been shown over previous months. Some pupils have been 100 in all branches, others have been close to this desirable number, and all, without exception, have raised their grades.

Of the department of the pupils in my department nothing but good can be said. I have an experience of many years as teacher in different places, and I can truthfully say that I have never had the care of a better collection of boys and girls. Not all angels, of course, but lively, healthy young people, getting out of order occasionally, but easily brought back.

Miss Moore also speaks well of her charge. Hers has been a difficult task. The room in which she taught was crowded and poorly warmed, and at times the weather rendered the room uncomfortable and teaching a task, but she has done her part well.

Many of the parents residing in this district are to be censured in the strongest possible terms for their neglect in educational matters. For five months a school has been open to their children, without money and without price. Books, even, could have been furnished free. But the number of idle, dissolute boys to be seen on our streets, and the number of girls who are allowed to remain at home in idleness, show that some of our people care very little for the advantages of education. Nor are parents who keep children at home on the flimsiest pretexts destitute of blame.

Having that 1887 may witness the completion of a public school building commensurate with the needs of Louisa; and the public's obedient servant,

PREVILLE, KY.

We notice in your columns of late date a notice of Mr. R. M. Broas report that while in Pike he was shot in the heel. We cannot imagine why men will circulate such reports unless it be for an effect on men who are inclined to visit this country. Mr. Broas may have reported correctly, but no one here ever heard of it before, and during his stay in Pike he was not more than two miles above the town. He kept close and when he and Mr. Sam Pigg left here they went afoot. I will say that if Mr. Broas received a wound in the heel from a gun or pistol shot, he kept it to himself; but none of the people believe it. In fact, many say they know it is not true, and that it is reported in the interest of Mr. Broas. I say this much in justice to the people here; and can say further that there is just as little danger of being shot here as anywhere else, and our people do not deserve such a report.

FREE TRADE.

The reduction of internal revenue and the taking of the revenue stamps from Proprietary Medicines, no doubt has largely benefited the consumers, as well as relieving the burden of home manufactures. Especially is this the case with Green's Angust Flower and Boeche's German Syrup, as the reduction of duty six cents per dozen, has been added to increase the size of the bottles containing these remedies, thereby giving one-fifth more medicine in the 75 cent size. The Angust Flower for Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, and the German Syrup for Cough and Lung troubles, have perhaps, the largest sale of any medicines in the world. The advantage of increased size of bottles will be greatly appreciated by the sick and afflicted, in every town and village in civilized countries. Sample bottles for 10 cents remain the same size.

Itch, Mange, and Scratches of every kind cured in 10 Minutes by Wolford's Sanitary Lotion. A sure cure and perfectly harmless. Warranted by Freese & Norris, Druggists, Louisa.

The is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years Doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure now on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucus surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials. Address F. J. accomplishes for everybody exactly what is claimed for it. One of the reasons for the great popularity of the Mustang Liniment is found in its universal applicability. Everybody needs such a medicine. The Lumberman needs it in case of accident. The Housewife needs it for her family use. The Chandler needs it for his team and his men. The Merchant needs it always on his work bench. The Miner needs it in case of emergency. The Pioneer needs it—can't get along without it. The Farmer needs it in his house, his stable, and his stock yard. The Steamboat man or the Boatman needs it in liberal supply aboard and ashore. The Horse-fancier needs it—it is his best friend and safest reliance. The Stock-grower needs it—it will save him thousands of dollars and a world of trouble. The Indian man needs it and will need it so long as his life is a round of accidents and dangers. The Backwoodsman needs it. There is nothing like it as an antidote for the dangers of life, limb and comfort which surround the pioneer. The Merchant needs it about his store among his employees. Accidents will happen, and when these come the Mustang Liniment is wanted at once. Keep a Bottle in the House, it is the best of economy. Keep a Bottle in the Factory, it is immediate use in case of accident as a pain killer. Keep a Bottle Always in the Stable for use when needed.

—Kerosene will cure the scaly legs on fowls. Anoint the legs once a week with kerosene for three or four weeks and the legs will become perfectly clean.—Philadelphia Record.

—The skin of a boiled egg is the most efficacious remedy that can be applied to a boil. Peel it carefully, wet and apply to the part affected. It will draw off the matter and relieve the soreness in a few hours.—Exchange.

—Now that cold weather has set in, take care that all the fowls are well sheltered at all times. They need a little heat now, and an occasional feed of corn at night, slightly parched, will help along.—Troy Times.

—It is said that a solution of pilocarpine, two grains to the ounce of water, injected into the tooth cavity will cure neuralgia caused by bad teeth. From an eighth to a quarter of a grain seems sufficient to check the pain in the course of an hour.—Health and Home.

—The fact is very suggestive that the egg supply falls off most rapidly while the days are shortening, and is smallest always during the months when the hours of sunshine are the fewest. No preparation for getting eggs in winter is complete which does not provide, besides warmth and good feeding, a plentiful supply of sunshine.—Prairie Farmer.

—Lemon Custard: Beat together one cup of sugar, one teaspoonful butter, three eggs and the juice and grated rind of one lemon. Put three cups of milk in a basin on the stove, and when it comes to a boil, add the beaten eggs, sugar, etc., stirring quickly all the time. When thoroughly mixed, set it in the oven and bake about twenty minutes, or until set.—The Caterer.

—In answer to the question, "Does also clover make dark-colored honey?" several correspondents of the Bee Journal say it does not. Others say it makes a honey slightly darker than that from white clover, but not as dark as buckwheat honey. One reply says also clover honey has a pinkish color; another that it is every way equal to white clover honey.

—Candied Citron: Peel and seed the citron; let it lay over night in weak sugar water. Next morning drain through a colander, take one pound of granulated sugar to one pound of citron; put the sugar on and boil until quite a thick sirup is formed, then drop the citron in and cook slowly until it is very tender and clear; when done pour on plates and set in a warm place to dry; then sprinkle with granulated sugar and keep in glass jars.—Exchange.

—If well laid, a stone drain should last as long as one of tile. If a considerable amount of stone is used and there is a good outlet a stone drain will never fill up so that some water will not pass through it. Too great a fall or too large an amount of water is apt to displace stones. Hence attempts to make the stone in the form of an arch often fail. One side or the other is liable to be displaced, and presently a stone is pushed into the channel. Earth accumulates around this and the efficiency of the drain is impaired. Tile set in a ditch just wide enough to receive it can not easily be displaced.—Western Rural.

HOW TO PROSPER.

The class of farmers who are successful and in consequence, contented.

The prosperous farmer, like every other business man, is he who takes advantage of circumstances to get the most he honestly can out of what he has to sell. Not all business men follow the golden rule to do unto others what would be desired of them. Not all farmers do this, yet the golden rule is best in the long run. Why? A man's probity in dealing not only insures respect, but enables him to get better prices than he who does not strictly regard his word.

The man honorable in his dealings may be a man as keen in his bargains or in getting prices as he who does not strictly regard his word. He is more apt to figure closely in personal expenses, while at the same time being liberal in all things. He is apt to feel closely and at the same time fully. He saves by attending closely to the comfort of his stock. No depreciation is allowed to take place in buildings and sheds. His farm machines, wagons and implements never suffer from undue contact with the weather. Every thing has a place, and all labor is performed at the proper time. He does not undertake work out of season, but in season he drives his work; he never drives him. He hires only the best help, treats his workmen courteously, and hence always gets the best—and keeps it. His workmen may advise, but never dictate to him.

When a crop is ready for the market it is promptly sold if the price suits. If not, it is held until the price is satisfactory. A crop, however, or animals, are not held for speculative prices. He well knows the cost of holding a crop, and the loss on animals from feeding, while holding from the market when fat.

The prosperous farmer is a reading man. He keeps himself posted on his business through journals devoted to his profession. He may not get rich suddenly, but he does not fail, except from some unavoidable disaster. Are there any of our readers who have been pursuing the slack way of doing business? If so, there is no better time to turn over a new leaf than right now.—Farm, Field and Stockman.

WHITE BIRCH BARK.

As Outer Covering Which Is Not Indispensable to the Life of the Tree.

It is well-known that the bark of the white or paper birch has been used by the Indians of our Northern regions, where the bark is native to the soil and climate, for making their boats. The canoe still familiar to our lakes and rivers is made of this material. A naturalist who visited the coast of Labrador three or four years ago tells us that the people of that region use this bark not only for their boats, but also for a covering to their houses. The result of this too extravagant use of the material is that the supply is running short. Trees of a size to yield sheets of the bark large enough for use are becoming scarce near the coast and on the river banks. He accounts for this disappearance of the trees by referring to the stripping off the bark as the cause of their death, and says that as soon as the bark is taken off the tree dies.

Upon this point the naturalist is a little at fault. The severity of Labrador winters may make the process fatal in that country, but it is not necessarily so in warmer climates. This outer covering is only a water-proof garment, a non-conductor of heat, worn for the comfort and protection of the tree, but not indispensable to its life. The true bark—all that is concerned with the circulation of the sap and the growth of the tree—lies under this paper envelope in which the tree is carefully wrapped. After this outer covering is removed, the birch is in pretty nearly the same plight as the beech. Its true bark is left, but it is exposed to injury. It absorbs water in the rain, and when this water freezes during the winter, the delicate vessels beneath the surface are destroyed, and the health of the tree suffers. Yet the writer has known birches to live and flourish more than twenty-five years after their covering had been removed as high up from the ground as a man could reach. Possibly, even in cold Labrador, the destruction of the birches is caused by cutting them down to strip them, an improvident practice which is not unknown further south.—Youth's Companion.

—An observatory is in building at Sonnenblik, in the Tyrolese Alps, ten thousand feet above the sea, which will be the highest of the kind in Europe. The mountain is relatively easy of access with mines half way up its slopes, and a wire rope-way in operation leading up to them. The observatory will be in telephonic communication with the mines, and thence in telephonic communication with whatever spot it may be desirable to reach.

"Nine years ago I was salivated and was under the doctor's care seven years with mercurial rheumatism. Every winter I was confined to my bed from seven to nine weeks, and when out of bed I could hardly walk. I took bottle after bottle of medicine, but they did me no good. Two years ago, by mere accident, I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and it did so much for me that I have continued to take it. I have taken 15 bottles in two years, and have not been laid up since. I did not know what a will day was until I took Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. A. M. Mead, 55 Van Buren St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"I will testify that this statement is correct, and I would have been 400 in pocket if Mrs. Mead had taken Hood's Sarsaparilla nine years ago." MEAD the butter man, 59 Grand St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
